HOW MATTERS STAND

The Single Gold Standard Men Show Their Hands.

In the National Committee They Decide on Extreme Measures—This Action Compels the Majority To Assert Its Power.

Chicago, Ill., July 6.—(Special.)—The gold monometallists sustained a temporary victory today in the result of the work of the national executive committee—a victory which will be far-reaching in its effect, for it emphasizes the certainty of the assertion of the demands of the majority not only in the temporary organization of the convention, but in the makeup of the permanent organization.

Depending upon their control of the national committee as the result of the judicious distribution of federal patronage during the past three years, the gold men were emboldened to take extreme steps in the committee, in recognizing the bolting delegation from Nebraska, and in naming Senator Hill, of New York, to preside as temporary chairman. By a vote of 27 to 23, in both instances, the silver men protested, and their protest will meet with the overwhelming approval of the convention.

Tomorrow Senator Hill will be defeated for temporary chairman by Senator Daniel, of Virginia, whose name will be presented in a minority report of the national committee signed by twenty-three members. This report will be adopted by a vote of about 580 to 344, and the regular delegation from Nebraska will be seated and the arbitrary action of the national committee will be undone.

Today's work of the national committee shows that the gold men came prepared to adopt any extreme that best suits their purposes. Had the lines of the convention been closer drawn, they would have forced every contest in their favor without regard to merit, and it was with this in view that the bolting conventions in Nebraska and Texas were held. The silver tidal wave, however, has swept the Texas contest over the breastworks and the bolters have capitulated in a most undignified and ungracious, but a none the less positive retreat.

In the contests in South Dakota and Michigan, where the claims of the contesting silver delegations had not half the merit of that of the regular delegation from Nebraska, the silver men on the national committee voted to sustain the credentials of the regular organization, the vote in each instance being practically unanimous in favor of the gold regulars. In the Nebraska case, however, where the silver delegation comes with the credentials of party organization, and the prestige of regularity, the merits of the case plays no part and the bolters are given participation in the temporary organization simply because the gold men outnumbered their opponents on the national committee.

It is a fact worthy of comment that this result was reached by the votes of members of the committee whose state delegations are solidly against them and whose vote will be so recorded that way. This is notably so in the instances of Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, West Virginia and Kentucky, and several western states, and in every case new committeemen more in sympathy with their states have been chosen.

At this time but one thing is certain as to the outcome of the convention, and that is the adoption of a straight, unequivocal free coinage, 16 to 1, declaration. This is an absolute certainty and two-thirds of the convention will so vote.

The choice of candidates is between Bland and Hoies, with the result in doubt and a toss up for the difference. A day's developments may change the situation. Tomorrow it may be somebody else, and it is possible that the nominee may be a man whose name has not figured in the list of presidential probabilities, but whoever it is, and from where ever he hails, he will be a man who is in full harmony with the platform and on the issue thus made the democracy will go to fight with the best ante-election prospects it has had since the war.

CLARK HOWELL.

A LOOK OVER THE GROUND

Boies and Bland Seem To Be Leading in the Race.

HARD WORK IS BEING DONE

Gold Standard Men Contesting Every Inch of Ground.

AND WILL MAKE A DESPERATE FIGHT

Losing, the Probabilities Are They Will Bolt and Start a Party of Their Own.

Chicago, July 6.—(Special.)—The night before the convention finds the great mass of silver delegates as far from agreement upon a candidate as they were a week ago.

Bland and Boies are leading. They are running neck and neck, but the field is close up and the jockeys are beginning to use their whips unfairly upon each other. This complicates and embarrasses the situation.

Candidates are beginning to show signs that they are out for blood. Dense and deep-sounding mummings are heard and indications are that a nomination will not be made quickly. Another Sunday may find the convention yet in a struggle.

The silver leaders have debated and discussed the advisability of the caucus, but they cannot agree one way or the other. They talk, and talk, and then adjourn to talk again. The difficulty in the way is that there is no great leader or political boss among the silver managers. The forces have not been drilled, and then there is no man who towers so high that all will follow. Altgeld wants to lead. He tries to take the place of Jones and lead, but the sensational end of the managers will not follow.

Senator Jones comes nearer being the leader and boss than others, but his influence has been curtailed because he is bound up in state instructions for Bland, a candidate whom he is not personally for. With scores of difficulties in the way of agreement upon a candidate and with seductive arguments in favor of Teller thrown in everywhere, the delegates will go into convention tomorrow. They go in to enter battle at the outset with the gold minority.

The Fight of the Gold Men.

Chairman Harrity and his majority of the national committee today insisted upon their right to name David B. Hill as temporary chairman of the convention. Whitney dictated it and Harrity and the gold henchmen put it through by a majority of four. Clayton, of Alabama, however, entered a protest for the silver committeemen and twenty-four of them signed a minority report, naming John W. Daniel, of Virginia, as their standard-bearer to enter the convention pit against the New Yorker. Clayton bound Harrity to submit Daniel's name to the convention. Daniel will be elected, but it will come after a debate of acrimonious threats. Harrity being in the chair and putting the motions, will give the gold men ample opportunity to talk and their Auditorium meeting furnished full evidence that they will take advantage of it.

Scene There Before the Meeting of the National Committee Yesterday—In the Crowd of Silver Men Are Seen Such Well Known Leaders as Senator Jones of Arkansas, Senator Daniel of Virginia, Secretary of State "Buck" Hinrichsen of Illinois, Governor Altgeld of Illinois, Silver-Tongued Bailey of Texas, Our Own Pat Walsh, and Other Well Known Workers in the Silver Cause.

The gold delegates—300—are as united as one man. They propose to contest every inch of ground. Whitney has a majority of the national committeemen under his thumb and has used them to start things his way. They not only put up with Harrity for temporary chairman, but, over all precedent, arbitrarily seated the gold delegation from Nebraska, though the silver delegates exhibited themselves to be clearly the regular delegation.

The committee also refused to seat the free silver contestants from Michigan. The silver men made no fight, preferring not to interfere in the rights of states and because the Michigan vote is not needed to make up the necessary two-thirds.

Of the delegates 50 are instructed for silver and fifty more from the gold states have registered themselves with the silver managers as being for a silver candidate.

All tomorrow's session of the convention will probably be consumed in fighting over the temporary organization. The next day will perhaps be taken up in effecting permanent organization and settling the contests. Many silver men want to retaliate upon the gold people for their action in the Nebraska case by seating a silver delegate from Michigan. Wisner, counsel, however, will probably prevail.

The platform may not be reached on Thursday. On that the gold men will want to talk much, but with Senator Harris in the chair the previous question will be put early.

But Candidates Are Busy.
While all this is going on the candidates will be playing for position and the first vote may be taken Thursday afternoon. Should the gold men make a furious fight, that might add to Bland's strength, for he will go into the contest with his support the best organized, and his supporters are already crying for the delegates to rally round him to prevent the gold men aiding a candidate who does not stand for silver.

Bland starts in with Missouri, Illinois, Texas, Arkansas and a few western states behind him.

Boies will start with Iowa and perhaps

Alabama, Georgia, California, Tennessee, South Carolina, Mississippi and others. Bryan goes in with North Carolina and Nebraska (when seated) behind him. McLean has Ohio; Matthews Indiana, and other states will scatter about among the half dozen or more candidates.

The Illinois delegation is not believed to be sincerely for Bland, but Altgeld has put the vote there for keeping until he decides where to place it.

The Illinois people, like nine-tenths of the delegates, are in serious doubt as to who is the best man to nominate. All realize that no man yet put forward rises fully to the height of the occasion.

A Boom for Stevenson.
A strong effort has been made today to ring Vice President Stevenson into the race, but the gold delegates have taken so enthusiastically to this that the silver delegates are more than shy about it. Stevenson himself has spoken for the first time in many months, declaring that he is now and has always been a silver man.

Many predict that the fight between the present candidates will continue for several days without result and then a dark horse, in Stevenson, Teller or some other man whose name had not up to that time been formally presented, will be nominated.

Today Senators DuBois and Pettigrew and Congressmen Towne and Hartman, representing the bolting republicans from St. Louis, and the populists have been speaking to all the delegations in favor of Teller. They have promised that all the silver republican votes of the west and all the populists of all the states will vote for him, making his election a surety. They have succeeded in creating more favorable sentiment for Teller than existed among the delegates this morning, but the rank and file sentiment is yet strong against taking Teller.

Thus for the present, Teller is getting but little consideration other than as a possibility. The great objection to Teller is that if he was nominated all the gold men of the party would bolt and organize in every state in the union, declaring themselves the regular democracy. The leaders realize that Teller could be elected, but many of them hold that any silver candidate can be elected and that Teller himself would vote for either Boies or Bland and all the silver republicans and populists would follow his leadership.

Whoever is nominated, it begins to appear that the gold men propose to bolt and set up a democratic party of their own in the eastern states. Hill is doing all in his power to prevent this. It would mean his destruction in New York. It would hopelessly divide the party there. He would remain with the regular organization, but he is anxious to prevent being placed in such a position. However, the chances are that whoever is nominated, some of the eastern delegates will bolt. A few of the Massachusetts and New York men have already declared. E. W. B.

GEORGIANS SHOW UP AT CHICAGO

The Arrival of the Delegation in the Convention City.

THE MEETING AT THE PALMER

Orators from Different States Pleading for Favorites.

THEY SPOKE EARNESTLY FOR THEIR MEN

And Received the Respectful Attention of the Delegates—Distribution of Tickets to the Convention.

Chicago, July 6.—(Special.)—Above the maddening riot of bands and men that fill all space tonight nothing is certain for tomorrow save a fierce collision of mighty forces.

Today has settled nothing for the half-dozen or more booms that are camping here. They have wooed presidential fortunes with the maddest noises this side of bedlam and the day has passed and the convention has come, bringing nothing but uncertainty. Out of this tumult the wisdom of a great party is to be evolved, but what form it will wear when it comes and beyond the ken of the wisest man of the many thousands who are here.

It has been a day of tumult and noise. Every mother's son of a delegate has been badgered to death with oratory and every other form of campaign blandishment. Georgia, like a blushing maiden, has been surrounded by an army of wooers and she has said "yes" to none of them. She has flitted with them all, but each fervent suitor was sent away in suspense. Truly to say she doesn't know her own mind.

Out of the west came a gallant wooer with a firm purpose and a winning tongue and Georgia lent his earnest advocates an attentive ear. She dined with him, showing a hopeful interest and when his speakers went away they felt that they had not pleaded in vain. Still Georgia had given no encouragement, but the Teller men seemed satisfied. With all the fever of a nineteen-year-old lover "Silver Dick" friends pleaded with Georgia and Georgia seemed to like it, but sent the earnest fellows away without an answer.

And Boies, that cool and sturdy son of Iowa—how eloquently and earnestly did his advocates plead with the southern maiden. They had heard that faint heart never won fair lady and they did not despair. They pleaded eagerly. But Georgia only smiled and told them to come back again when she had thought it over.

Matthews, of Indiana, would not take so for an answer and he bade the bands serenade under Georgia's window and sent his friends to intercede in his behalf. And he sent many of his photographs, done up with dainty ribbons, for Georgia to wear. For many hours Georgia listened, but she gave no sign and tonight she hasn't the faintest idea which suitor she will accept. Maybe it will be Bland—strong, honest, loyal fellow he is, so much like the idol of her maidenhood's dreams; or it may be Boies, stalwart and strong and handsome, such a fine, effective figure, or it may be Teller, who brings the wealth of the west as an offering to democracy; or yet it may be some good man whose name has not yet been mentioned.

Georgia sat here this morning. She took up lodgings at the Leland, but she loitered around the Palmer and the Auditorium nearly all day. These two great hotels are jammed with badged and shouting humanity. Now a Boies, now a Bland band with a company of shouters would come in and reel off "Dixie" or some stirring air. Then the crowds would shriek themselves hoarse. Georgia looked on and gathered inspiration.

The Meeting at the Palmer.

At 5 o'clock the Georgia delegation met in their headquarters in the Palmer house. They had surveyed the field and knew the lay of the land pretty well by this time. Hon. Clark Howell, as national committeeman, called the meeting to order.

Hon. Patrick Walsh was nominated for permanent chairman of the Georgia delegation. The lion-hearted senator was not in the room and Hon. Buford Davis, of Macon, was named for vice chairman. The first work was the distribution of tickets to the convention. The delegates were glad enough to get their hands on these coveted bits of paper, as they have many eager constituents waiting here for them. The matter of filling the committee places was taken up and disposed of very quickly. The following were named:

Member Committee on Platform—Hon. Evan P. Howell.

Member Committee on Credentials—Hon. Hal T. Lewis.

Member National Committee for the Next Four Years—Hon. Clark Howell.

Members Notification Committee—Hon. J. T. Hill and W. O. Howard.

Chairman Walsh came in at this point and took charge. He excused his absence by saying that he had been attending a meeting of the Bimetallist League. "The league has just adjourned," said he, "and it requested me to find the sense of the delegation concerning the advisability of holding a caucus. The question was very fully discussed in the meeting, and was carried by a vote of 123 to 88 against. For various reasons, over 200 of those present did not vote, some of them representing states which will present favorite sons, and others who, for other reasons, opposed a caucus. I should like to say that it was emphatically the sense of those voting for a caucus that one should be held. I should like for this delegation to take up the question and dispose of it."

Captain Howell Speaks.

Captain Howell was the first to speak. "It would be highly imprudent," said he, "for us to attempt such a thing. It would be an unheard of thing at a democratic convention. Who ever dreamed of a big democratic convention, like this, coming together in a caucus and deciding who they would support for president? It is unnecessary, and dangerous. I believe it would work harm. I am opposed to it, and trust this delegation will see it in the same light I do."

Hon. Tyler Peoples agreed with Captain Howell.

Captain Howell moved that the Georgia delegation express itself against a caucus, and the motion was carried. Some members wanted the delegation to express a choice for temporary chairman for the convention tomorrow.

Hon. Clark Howell, who was just from the meeting of the national committee, was called on to tell what that body had done. He explained that strict lines had been drawn between the silver and gold men, and that the former would report in favor of Senator Daniel, of Virginia, and the latter in favor of Senator David B. Hill, of New York. He said, on every question that had come up the lines had been closely drawn.

Hon. Ira Farmer created a ripple of applause by moving that Chairman Walsh be instructed to cast the vote of Georgia for Senator John W. Daniel, of Virginia, for temporary chairman of the convention. This was Georgia's first move in the tremendous fight that tomorrow's convention is certain to bring forth. On all questions of organization that may come up, Chairman Walsh was instructed to cast the vote of Georgia in harmony with what he conceived to be the spirit of the Georgia delegation.

Talking for Bland.

One morning moved that the advocates of each candidate be given fifteen minutes in which to present their case. There was short and round Senator George G. Vest and long and thin Governor Stone. Senator Vest was first presented. He fixed his eagle eye upon Chairman Walsh, and with his left hand thrust into his trousers' pocket, in that famous senatorial attitude, he commenced to shell the woods for Bland. He spoke of his ability, his services to silver, and of his high personal character. He was a man who was a platform himself. He decided the effort to go outside the party for a man. It would be taking out letters of administration on the party.

"It has been said," said Mr. Vest, "that it would be unwise to nominate him because his wife is a Catholic; that the A. P. A's would oppose him. A man wrote to him the other day saying he could not support him on that ground. Bland sent back a reply that was thoroughly characteristic of the man. He said: 'I was born a Protestant, my father was a Presbyterian minister; I have never been inside a Catholic church in my life, but I would to God that my chances for heaven were one-half as good as my wife's are.'"

Senator Vest spoke with his usual force and was often applauded. There were Bland men in the crowd, but the frequent outburst of applause were more a tribute to the eloquent speaker than an endorsement of Mr. Bland's candidacy.

Missouri's thin governor followed in a talk of the sledgehammer kind. It was devoid of eloquence, but chock full of logic. He made an urgent plea for "Silver Dick."

Matthews's Claims.

Indiana came next to state the case of Governor Claude Matthews. Hon. R. F. Shiers, the fine looking young man who is the democratic nominee for governor of Indiana, spoke for Matthews. He urged Matthews's silver record and the fact that he lived in such a doubtful state as Indiana as strong reasons why he should be wasn't a bit beautiful, championed the Iowa man. He was Hon. George N. Jennings, and he deserves whatever he may ask at the hands of the voters of Iowa. He is a torn orator and humorist and he wooed the Georgians with unquenchable persistence. He pleaded for Farmer Boies with an earnestness and force that showed that his heart was in his work and perspiration ran down and wet his collar, but he talked on. He jollied the delegates so successfully that for a time it seemed as if he were going to carry the Georgians into the Boies camp, horse, foot and dragon.

He was followed by Mr. Van Wagner, who spoke earnestly in behalf of Horace Boies, as the Iowans all call him. As he spoke his colleagues whooped things up. What impressed the Georgians most was the deep earnestness with which the Iowans urged their man. They had felt the power of the personality of the broad statesman and were deeply imbued with enthusiasm in his cause. One of the speakers declared that the United States had never known a greater president than he would be. "Inside of a few weeks, if he is nominated," said Mr. Van Wagner, "his strong personality will be felt all over this country and he will sweep the union." The speaker dwelt strongly upon the personal force of his candidate.

Speaking for Teller.

The dramatic event of the meeting was the coming of the republican bolters with their plea for Teller. The men without a party were not less earnest than the friends of Boies and they presented their case at great length. Things grew lively indeed, while they remained. A brilliant young man, with hair touched with gray, outlined the proposition of the Teller men, and he created a sensation. He was Congressman John O. Towne, of Minnesota. He walked out of the St. Louis convention arm in arm with Teller.

"A nomination by acclamation was awaiting me at home," said he, "if I would only stultify myself, but I chose to stand by what I conceived to be the cause of humanity and civilization." He declared that the democratic party had not made the silver issue. It was the people's cause and bigger than any party, therefore democrats should not object to Senator Teller on party grounds. He was the great leader of the movement—the logical votes—twenty-four too few to elect." He urged the union of the south and west in all matters political. He, too, was pitted with questions and replied to them all. Mr. Teller, he said, was not a candidate for president, but would accept the nomination on a democratic platform. Mr. Teller was a moderate protectionist, but believed that bimetalism was the pre-eminent issue and would make all other secondary to this. It was not a matter of a name, it was a matter of principle.

When Hartman finished it was growing late. The bands and shouters of the various booms were making night hideous outside and the Georgians wanted to get out and mingle in it. They adjourned until tomorrow. Then others will come to woo Georgia and upon what fortunate man she will place her affections cannot until then be told.

R. L. ADAMSON.

CAPTAIN EVAN HOWELL ON THE SITUATION.

THERE IS MUCH DISSENSION TO SMOOTH OVER.

Friends of Silver Must Find a Presidential Candidate in Thorough Accord with Their Views.

Chicago, July 6.—Captain E. P. Howell, of The Atlanta Constitution, who has been selected as the member from Georgia on the committee on resolutions, discussing the general situation this morning, said: "The silver democrats have determined to control the temporary organization of the convention. If a majority of the national committee recommends a man whom the silver men do not want or trust they will recommend to the majority a man the silver men desire and then both reports will be submitted to the convention and the silver delegates will vote for the minority report and they expect to organize the convention. I think Senator Harris will be permanent chairman, and Mr. Towle, of Missouri, will be secretary."

When asked what he thought would be done with respect to the tariff question, Mr. Howell replied that he thought the proper thing for this convention to do was to readopt the tariff plank of 1894.

"The substance of that plank," he continued, "was that we should have tariff sufficient to meet the needs of the government, economically administered, and so as to protect the industries of this country against the pauper labor of Europe. The tariff of 1894 is the best platform the democratic party has had since the war, and every fair-minded man is in favor of that kind of a tariff."

"As to Cuba, there is some difference of opinion whether we ought to say anything about it or not. The prevailing sentiment is that a declaration in favor of Cuba will prevail. I think whatever is said will be very pronounced. There is no issue upon that. The declaration will be sufficient to meet the needs of the government."

"Of the candidates, nobody can tell anything. The situation is just as badly mixed as it was two weeks ago. There is a great deal of dissension between the friends of those here now, each claiming that the other candidate cannot carry the country. It is our duty to find a man who can carry the election and enforce the principles for which we will declare."

Notwithstanding the instructions of the Mississippi state democratic convention, the name of Senator E. C. Walthall will not be presented to the national convention for the nomination for president. Senator-elect Money said his colleague recognized the fact that the candidate would not be taken from the south and was perfectly well satisfied with the honor conferred upon him by the action of the state convention. With that he would let the matter rest.

The Virginia delegation, at Senator Daniel's request, have decided not to present his name as a candidate.

SELECTION OF HILL CAUSING TROUBLE.

CONSERVATIVE SPIRIT SEEMS TO BE DEPARTING.

The Silver Men and Gold Men Will Measure Forces on the Temporary Chairmanship.

Chicago, July 6.—Senator Hill's expressed desire is to be gratified. The first fight between the silver and "sound money" forces will occur on the question of the temporary organization of the convention when Chairman Harris calls it to order at noon tomorrow. According to present appearances the prayer is about the only part of the preliminary proceedings which is likely to pass unchallenged. In no previous great national convention has the recommendation of the duly chosen national committee in regard to a temporary presiding officer been antagonized by a minority report and a demand for a vote, but the present gathering is an exceptional one and is likely to break in upon precedents in more respects than one.

By a vote of 27 to 23 the majority of the national committee today decided to recommend Senator David B. Hill as temporary chairman of the convention.

A Minority Report.

Mr. C. S. Thomas, of Colorado, gave notice that a minority report would be presented recommending the selection of Senator John W. Daniel, of Virginia, and that the convention would be asked to make a choice between the two nominations. It is a curious fact that at the last democratic convention held in this same hall, during that memorable all-night session which resulted in the nomination of Grover Cleveland, Senator Daniel with dauntless courage faced for over an hour a hostile, howling audience, as the especial champion of Senator Hill, the man who by the irony of politics he is now antagonizing.

The method of proceeding tomorrow will probably be as follows: When Chairman Harris calls the convention to order as the representative of the national committee and recommends the selection of Senator Hill as temporary chairman a minority member of the national committee will offer a substitute naming Senator Daniel. Under all forms of parliamentary law a substitute must first be voted upon and the only question in this case seems to be whether or not Mr. Harris will recognize one of his silver associates for the purpose of offering this substitute, the convention not having been organized and no roll of delegates having been passed upon.

The silver men claim that the chairman's act in recommending a temporary chairman for the approval of the convention is an admission that the convention is qualified to act upon it. If this be true in the one case, they assert that it must be so in the case of the substitute. Should Mr. Harris refuse to put the motion for the adoption of the substitute some silver member of the national committee on the platform will put the question and the first skirmish between the gold and the silver factions will be precipitated.

"I know very little about the parliamentary status of this matter," said Senator Tillman tonight, "but I do claim to be possessed of a little common sense. I know that Senator Daniel will be the temporary chairman of this convention, and that he will make the speech. If the gold men think that their 300 votes form the majority of this convention, just let them try it. The silver men are running this affair, and they propose to run it after their own fashion. If the gold men do not like it, let them bolt. I hope they will."

During the early hours of the day a conservative spirit seemed to pervade the more radical of the silver men, and the desire was expressed by many to avoid, if possible, a clash in the convention.

The conclusion of the committee to recommend the selection of Senator Hill has caused a sudden drop in this conservatism, and the feeling between the two factions of the party now seems to be more bitter than before, if such a condition be possible.

As to the probable choice of a presidential candidate to represent the free silver platform, the day's developments have brought no marked change in the situation. Mr. Bland's friends are doing most of the claiming and shouting. Efforts to get the silver men to caucus on the nominations in advance of the meeting of the convention have failed. Money said his colleagues recognized the fact that the candidate would not be taken from the south and was perfectly well satisfied with the honor conferred upon him by the action of the state convention. With that he would let the matter rest.

The Virginia delegation, at Senator Daniel's request, have decided not to present his name as a candidate.

determined to present to the convention the name of Senator White, of that state, despite the protests of the senator that he is not a candidate, and does not desire a name to be considered.

At the meeting of the delegation this afternoon the matter was discussed, several delegates stating that they believed the time would come in the contest when the convention would turn to Senator White as the only man who was commanding delegations could unite. For this reason they proposed to keep him as their candidate. Senator White, who was present, entered an emphatic protest, and if his wishes are respected, the delegates will look elsewhere for their candidate. No attempt was made this afternoon to decide upon any candidate other than Mr. White. With the California senator out of the way, the vote of the state would be distributed among the various candidates.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE DID AS EXPECTED.

SEATED GOLD DELEGATES FROM NEBRASKA AND MICHIGAN.

Hill for Temporary Chairman—John W. Daniel Will Be the Candidate of the Silver Committeemen.

Chicago, July 6.—The national committee assembled at 12:45 o'clock, and the first thing announced was "with regret" that the request of the press associations to be permitted to have a representative present during the sessions could not be granted. Secretary Shear then called the roll. It was stated in the lobby that the representatives of the bimetallic league were to be received. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, was spokesman for the delegation from the league. He addressed the committee and stated that the selection of any one who was not in the league would be a disgrace to the league. He urged the selection of Senator Hill, of Texas, as temporary chairman. He urged in the interest of harmony that the wishes of the majority be not antagonized. He was given a respectful hearing and then withdrew without any reply being made to his request.

It was decided by a secret vote to proceed first to the settlement of the contests for seats in the convention or rather for places on the temporary roll. It was stated that the gold contestants from Texas had withdrawn their contest and would press it no further. The various result. Mr. Hill received the news in his usual impressive way. Gathered in the room at the time were ex-Secretary Whitney, ex-Governor Flower, Smith M. Weed and others. All congratulated the senator on his selection. Mr. Whitney and the other gentlemen had been waiting to hear from the national committee on the temporary chairmanship question and on the announcement of the result left the senator's room.

Southern Associated Press representative asked Mr. Hill if he was satisfied with the result of the vote. "Oh," said the senator, with a shrug of his shoulders, "I don't care anything about it; it makes no difference to me one way or the other."

"Will you prepare a speech as temporary chairman?" was asked.

"Well, now," said Mr. Hill, "I don't think I will for divers reasons. What's the use of preparing a speech I may not have a chance to deliver?"

"Do you think the convention will refuse to accept the national committee's recommendation?"

"I don't know. It's hard to tell what the enemy will do under the circumstances. I am prepared to do anything that is possible to happen."

SILVER MEN CONFER.

Must Present a United Front, Says Senator Tillman.

Chicago, July 6.—A conference of the accredited representatives of free coinage delegations assembled at the Sherman house at 2 o'clock this afternoon. They represented 400 votes. Senator Harris, of Tennessee, presided, with T. O. Towle as secretary.

After much discussion Senator Tillman asked that the roll be called by states to decide whether the silver men should name a state for officers of the convention and president and vice president of the United States to be supported in open convention by all silver men. The vote on the proposition stood: Ayes, 118; nays, 80; undecided, 230, as follows: Alabama, undecided, 22; Arkansas, aye, 16; California, no, 18; Colorado, aye, 3; Florida, undecided, 6; Georgia, undecided, 26; Idaho, no, 6; Illinois, undecided, 45; Indiana, no, 30; Iowa, undecided, 28; Kansas, no, 20; Mississippi, aye, 18; Missouri, aye, 24; Montana, undecided, 6; South Carolina, aye, 15; Tennessee, undecided, 24; Texas, undecided, 30; Utah, no, 6; Wyoming, aye, 6; Arizona, aye, 6; District of Columbia, undecided, 6; Indian Territory, undecided, 6; New Mexico, aye, 6; Oklahoma, aye, 6. All other states not mentioned were unrepresented.

was a long and earnest debate. Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, said it was to his mind essential to present a firm front and to accomplish this organization must have the goldbugs were having a bee trying to sow the seeds of disruption and disorganization, and were sparing no means in their power to do it. They were playing on the vanity of men by putting the bee a buzzing, where, if the bee were lively, it would be the last place it would seek honey. Yet its effect was even now felt in the fact that silver men hesitated to take the lead and keep it.

Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, said that

SENATOR DANIEL, OF VIRGINIA.

He Was the Choice of the Silver Men on the National Committee for Temporary Chairman.

named. His nomination meant that Indiana would go for democracy and consequently the country would go the same way.

He was backed up by the secretary of state, who made a ringing appeal for Matthews.

The Iowans with Boies.

Then the Boies boys came in and a determined and enthusiastic lot of fellows they were. Their coat fronts bristled with badges and they were armed with literature. There were no national celebrities among them, but they fell in with the Georgia delegation from the start. A rugged son of Iowa, with a ruddy face that standard bearer of the silver men. Considerations of sentiment were nothing, but consideration of facts should assure his nomination. He said that Teller would easily be elected. The populists of the country would endorse his nomination at St. Louis.

"What authority have you for saying that?" asked Hon. Ira Farmer.

"Absolute authority, sir," was the quick reply. He said that Teller was one of the nation's biggest men. He pleaded for a political union of the south and west and urged that the Georgians would not allow a party sentiment to stand in the way of their selecting Teller.

Towne's eloquent appeal had a marked effect. He was pitted with questions and seemed to like it. He is a scholarly young man and a ready speaker.

Senator Fred T. Dubois, of Idaho, added another western vote to the plea for Teller. He said he was without a party, out in the cold, "but we are ready to come into the democratic party," he said. He argued that by nominating Teller and thus securing the six bolting senators for the democracy, the party would have control of the senate for years to come.

"We are here ready to come in and help you whip this fight," he said. "Remember, you've got no party west of the Missouri river. The men who come to your convention from these states are like the negroes who go to the republican convention. They represent nobody, they are merely the men who want the postoffice."

He declared that Teller's nomination would build up the party west of the Missouri river and aid greatly in electing a democratic congress.

Dubois, like Towne, did not fail to produce his effect.

Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, nervous and excited, made a warm appeal for Teller. It was the hope of bimetalism. Without him the cause was lost in the west. He had much difficulty in making democrats of other sections understand that Teller was the only name to carry the west with. Democracy in the west needed the added attraction of such a name as that of Teller. With Teller as the nominee many western republican states could be swung into the democratic column. He answered many questions from the Georgians.

Congressman Hartman, of Montana, another bolter, put in some pile-drive blows for Teller. He was loaded with figures that would put such a veteran as Grosvont to shame. He held up his figures to the Georgians for their inspection. "It takes electoral votes," said he, "to name a president. It is our duty to find a man whom the people can easily get enough, but Teller you can easily get enough, but without him the most favorable chances have been able give you only 137 electoral

When a man goes to war he willingly takes his life in his hands. Death waits for him on every hand, and he meets it calmly and fearlessly. He has offered his life, and he is willing to give it. In ordinary affairs, a man's life is pledged in another way. He assumes obligations that he must live to fulfill. Carelessness of health in this case is worse than undue carelessness would be in war. It is every man's duty to preserve his health to the fullest, and to live as long as he can. The sick man can't do a man's full duty in the world. A man who is weak from loss of flesh, whose nerves are run down, whose blood is impure, who shows from his sunken cheeks and hollow eyes and lingering cough that he is on the direct road to death or consumption, can in no way perform the full duties of a man. If he lets these things go on, it is because he prefers disease to health—death to life. He can be cured surely and quickly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Thousands and thousands of people have testified to the wonderful effects of this most marvelous medicine.

SHERIFFS AND CLERKS OF COURT

Will Meet at Indian Spring Tomorrow Morning.

LARGE ATTENDANCE EXPECTED

Chinese Arrested in Macon for Having a "Scrap."

THE ONE SAYS THE OTHER IS A HIGBINDER

Judge Speer Hears the Exceptions to the Master's Report in Mrs. McAlpin's Suit.

Macon, Ga., July 6.—(Special.)—A convention of importance and interest will assemble at Indian Spring on next Wednesday, and nearly every county in the state will be represented. The sheriffs and clerks of the superior court of Georgia will meet in annual session. The association has a large membership, and is one of the most important organizations in the state. Bibb county's popular and efficient sheriff, S. G. Westcott, is president of the association. He will call the association to order on Wednesday morning.

The meeting last year was held at Macon and the proceedings were highly interesting.

Is He a Highbinder. Today Recorder Freeman filed a Macon Chinese, Lung Sing, $5 for fighting another Chinese, Sing Lee, and also bound him over to the city court in the sum of $100 for assault and battery. Yesterday afternoon while returning from the Tattall Square Baptist Sunday school, Lung Sing attacked Sing Lee and beat him severely in the face, and it is said also cut him with some sharp instrument. A loaded leather belt and a pair of scissors were found at the scene of the difficulty, which are thought to have been used on Sing Lee, but Lung Sing denies their ownership and says he only struck Sing Lee with his fist. Sing Lee lost his key and asked Lung Sing if he had found it. This question infuriated Lung Sing, who attacked Sing Lee. Sing Lee says Lung Sing is a highbinder, and Sing Lee thinks Lung Sing intends to kill him. Sing Lee is so apprehensive of his life he thinks of leaving Macon. The two Chinese have been regular attendants on the Tattall Square Baptist church Sunday school a long while.

Interesting Case. There arrived in Macon this morning from Savannah Receivers John R. Young and J. S. Collins, of the Savannah Electric Railway Company. Mr. Walter H. Charlton, who represents the company, and Colonel William Garrard, representing the Oglethorpe Saving and Trust Company, trustee, under the $500,000 mortgage on the property, upon which foreclosure proceedings were instituted in the United States court. The parties appeared before Judge Speer today, and counsel on both sides agreed that a decree for foreclosure and sale be submitted to Judge Speer. No argument was made in the case. The company has a mortgage on the property for $500,000, which was due July 1st.

Both Sides Excepted. Today in the United States court Judge Speer heard exceptions to the master's report in the suit of Mrs. Margaret McAlpin vs. Central railroad. The master found for Mrs. McAlpin in the sum of $100. Plaintiff excepted to the report because the finding was against her. Defendant excepted because the finding was too large. Argument was made on both sides. The parties appeared before Judge Speer today, and counsel on both sides agreed that a decree for foreclosure and sale be submitted to Judge Speer. No argument was made in the case. The company has a mortgage on the property for $500,000, which was due July 1st.

Henderson Insane. Today Mr. W. W. Henderson was declared of unsound mind and a fit subject for the custody of the state. Henderson was tried at the Court house, where he has been confined several days, and at times has been quite violent. He will be carried to the asylum as soon as possible. Henderson is a well known citizen. He was formerly corner of Bibb county, a constable and once ran for sheriff. His friends hope that his mental condition will improve under treatment at the asylum.

Masonic Items. Grand Master John P. Shannon, of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Elberton, passed through Macon today en route to Montgomery. He will deliver a Masonic address tonight. Several persons will be initiated members of the Montgomery lodge tonight.

Grand Secretary A. M. Wolfin, of the grand lodge of Georgia, will go to Macon Wednesday to participate in a Masonic celebration.

Grand Secretary Wolfin has returned from Dawson, where he went on a mission relative to Royal A. L. Hunt.

On to St. Louis. The national convention of the peoples party will meet in St. Louis, July 23d. The delegates from Georgia will be: A. A. Murphy, of Pike; W. F. Smith, of Butts; Dr. William Glover, of Bibb; Dr. L. S. Hunter, of Henry.

Atlanta and Macon. Dr. C. W. Ball, a leading dentist of Atlanta, has won for his bride one of Macon's loveliest and most fascinating young ladies, Miss Annie Harbuck, daughter of Superintendent Harbuck of the Southern railway. They were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. J. C. Combs, of the Christian church, Atlanta. Dr. and Mrs. Ball have gone to Atlanta.

Made Some Money. The executive committee of the Fourth of July Association, which gave the celebration last Saturday, met at the Hotel Lanier tonight to wind up matters relating to the celebration. After all expenses are paid the committee will deliver over to the public library about $400 in net profit.

Industrial News. Athens is to have a new knitting mill. The new survey of the Western and Atlantic railroad was completed early in September. This is the information coming from Mr. T. P. Stanley, of this city, who is conducting the survey. It will be a handsome and complete piece of work when finished.

Increasing the Lights. The city of Athens has just finished putting in eleven new arc lights and has five more that will be put in next week. This will give the city a service of one hundred lights that cost her about $45 per light per annum, including interest on investment. The new lights are being put in growing in favor here and over 1,000 lights are in demand.

Industrial News. Athens is to have a new knitting mill. The new survey of the Western and Atlantic railroad was completed early in September. This is the information coming from Mr. T. P. Stanley, of this city, who is conducting the survey. It will be a handsome and complete piece of work when finished.

Increasing the Lights. The city of Athens has just finished putting in eleven new arc lights and has five more that will be put in next week. This will give the city a service of one hundred lights that cost her about $45 per light per annum, including interest on investment. The new lights are being put in growing in favor here and over 1,000 lights are in demand.

The remains of Mrs. William Gotthelmer, of Lexington, were laid to rest in Oconee county, Georgia, yesterday afternoon. Rabbi Rubenstein conducting the funeral services.

Stole Gas Fixtures. Robert Mitchell, a small negro boy, was bound over to the superior court yesterday for stealing a gas fixture from a house in the city. Robert, it seems, had been breaking into vacant houses and stealing the gas fixtures and other articles.

A Child's Sad Death. The man and Mrs. Marshall T. Eckford will regret to know that Marshall T. Eckford, Jr., aged one year, died yesterday at the home of his parents at half-past 3 o'clock. The child was a victim of cholera infantum. The death was a great loss to the family.

HOW MATTERS STAND IN CHICAGO

from what he understood yesterday no silver conference could be held which would include all the six hundred and odd silver delegates in the convention. Nevertheless if such a conference seemed to those present wise and prudent, Illinois will be found acting in concert to promote the silver cause. Illinois had no candidate to present and was hampered in no way which could interfere with her giving her best efforts to nominate a candidate upon a platform that would command the majority of the votes of the people in November. Still he thought there might be some danger in a conference of so many as 600 men with no rules to guide them and unless all speeches were eliminated and they simply came down to voting on propositions and men, the conference might find, at its close, that it left them less united than when they began.

Mr. O'Donnell, of Colorado, reiterated his remarks of last Friday night that it was necessary for the silver men to get together for the goldbugs of the east could not throw their 200 votes in a body to some rule and the struggle promises to be interesting.

The Texas delegates endorsed the candidacy of Bland for president and selected Congressman J. W. Bailey to second Bland's nomination.

GEN. PIERCE YOUNG DIES IN NEW YORK

Distinguished Georgian Passes Away at the Presbyterian Hospital.

SICK FOR A SHORT TIME

Was on His Return Trip from Guatemala.

HIS REMAINS TO BE BROUGHT SOUTH

Will Be Interred in Cartersville, His Old Home—Sketch of His Life.

General P. M. B. Young is dead.
The distinguished Georgian passed away yesterday in New York.

Thousands of his friends in this state and throughout the south will be grieved to hear of the close of this brilliant life.

The following special from New York tells of his death:

New York, July 6.—(Special.)—General P.
M. B. Young, United States minister to Guatemala and Honduras, died at the Presbyterian hospital in this city this morning.

General Young reached this country from Guatemala June 25th. He came reported at the department of state in was a mere boy, his military education at the Georgia Military Institute and at West Point had so admirably fitted him for the duties of a soldier that he soon rose to a position far in advance of what would have been expected of one of his age, and at the close of the war, although only a youth in years, he had risen by his distinguished gallantry and by his skill in military matters to the rank of a major general in the confederate army.

In private life he was universally beloved as a genial, Christian gentleman, a warm acquaintance and as a faithful, true and unwavering friend.

An Incident of History.

The news of the death of General Pierce M. B. Young will carry sorrow to every soldier in Georgia. One of the most interesting features of his army career was his pursuit of the northern officer, Kilpatrick. Kilpatrick had been a classmate of Young's at West Point. In 1863, in June, the northern general, doubtless in imitation of Stewart, determined to make a raid around Lee's army. He detailed Kilpatrick, with a column of cavalry, to make the attempt.

Kilpatrick was to make a raid around Richmond—such as Stewart had made around McClelland's army. The fame of Stewart's raids had spread throughout the north, and had carried consternation wherever the news went. To counteract this impression, orders were issued that Kilpatrick should make a cavalry raid around the southern army.

Kilpatrick, with a column of cavalry, started to encircle Richmond. No sooner had he started than General Lee, who knew everything that was going on in the federal army, ordered a column of cavalry, under the command of General Young, to follow the cavalry raid.

General Young knew Kilpatrick well. He had been in West Point with him, and they had been intimate friends. But a civil war levels all distinctions. Young, with his command, started in hot pursuit. Kil-

NEAL SUCCEEDS STEWART WOODSON

The Chamber of Commerce Elects a New President.

EVERYTHING WAS UNANIMOUS

Nominating Committee's Ticket Meets
No Opposition.

THE ORGANIZATION IS IN FINE SHAPE

Retiring Officers Have Left a Fine Record, but the Incoming Are Ambitious To Beat It.

Mr. T. B. Neal was yesterday elected to the presidency of the Atlanta chamber of commerce to serve for the ensuing year.

There was no opposition to him and he was elected unanimously. The following officers were also elected by a unanimous vote:

First vice president, E. P. Chamberlin.
Second vice president, Rufus B. Bullock.
Third vice president, George W. Scipio.
Treasurer, Ed. McRae.

Directors, J. G. Oglesby, R. J. Lowry,
J. W. English, S. F. Woodson, L. H. Beck,
E. C. Peters.

These officers were recommended unanimously by the nominating committee. The election was a quiet one and as there was no contest a light vote was polled.

The election commenced at noon and the polls closed at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Neal is the president of the Neal Loan and Banking Company and has been at the head of this large house for many years. He has always been closely allied with every business and financial interest of the city's interest. Under Mr. Neal's administration every one who knows him expects the chamber of commerce to be more active than ever in working for the upbuilding of Atlanta.

First Vice President E. P. Chamberlin
is another member of the board of directors in the front rank of Atlanta's business men and he will be a splendid aid to the president. Mr. Chamberlin has always taken an interest in every movement inaugurated to advance the interest of the city and he has the distinction of having been a member of the board of directors of every exposition company in Atlanta.

Governor Bullock holds the third place in the list of officers and he is well known in business circles as well as in politics and will make an efficient officer of the chamber.

Mr. George W. Scipio, the third vice president, has for many years been a member of the firm of Scipio & Sons. He is well known as a business man of high standing.

Mr. Paul Romare, who was chosen treasurer of the chamber, is splendidly qualified for the duties of this office. He stands in the front rank of Atlanta's business men.

The entire list of officers and directors is made up of the city's best and most energetic business men, and this assures the organization of a splendid year of prosperity.

The retiring president, Mr. Stewart Woodson, has labored faithfully and energetically for the advancement of the organization and until recently he has been doing his efforts. The past years has witnessed better work for the upbuilding of Atlanta than the chamber of commerce has before. Every one has commended favorably upon the active, energetic spirit of his brain affected.

COLONEL W. M. MIDDLEBROOKS SERIOUSLY ILL AT HIS HOME.

His Brother's Defalcation Is the Cause.
Little Hope Entertained for His Recovery.

Colonel W. M. Middlebrooks, one of the most popular citizens of this city, is seriously ill at his residence on Peter street.
His brain is seriously affected, and it is thought that it will be some time before he will recover.

Colonel Middlebrooks has experienced much trouble, and it has been more than he could bear. His actions have been determined by the late few weeks, and his family are very much alarmed over his condition.

The main cause that has prompted the colonel's illness is said to be the defalcation of his brother-in-law, Major Kilpatrick, who has just been released from Fulton county jail. The amount of this shortage was $10,000, every cent of which was assumed by Colonel Middlebrooks.

Colonel Middlebrooks is fifty-five years of age, and has a host of friends in Atlanta, who deeply regret the unfortunate condition. He was at one time mayor pro tem, and is honored and beloved by every one with whom he has come in contact.

JUDGE ANDY BACK.

Held Court Yesterday for the First Time Since He Was Wed.

Judge Andy Back has returned to the city from his bridal tour and occupied his bench in the recorder's court yesterday.

The judge exhibits many changes from his former self. He is a new, slender smile illuminating his austere countenance that has never been noticeable heretofore. There was also an unusual shortness about the proceedings.

To Notify Dr. Landrum.

Mr. John M. Green, chairman of the board of deacons of the First Baptist church, left yesterday for Richmond to formally tender Dr. Landrum to the pulpit of that city. The call to the pulpit until recently occupied by Dr. J. B. Hawthorne.

Mr. Green has arranged an interview with Dr. Landrum this morning at 10 o'clock, when all of the details of his removal to Atlanta will be agreed upon. The Baptists have been without a regular pastor for more than two months and they are anxious for Dr. Landrum to come to Atlanta as soon as possible.

Accused of Stealing $80.

W. L. Short, a young negro, was arrested by Officer Powell last night and locked in the station house on the charge of larceny.
He is accused of having stolen $80 from Hillard Jones, another negro. Several other negroes were also arrested and held until they can be brought to a preliminary hearing today.

OUT FOR CONGRESS

Mr. J. C. Hendrix Says That He Is in the Race.

WRITES A PUBLIC LETTER

Gives His Position on the Financial Question—What He Has To Say.

Mr. J. C. Hendrix has made his formal announcement for congress. He will enter the field against Colonel Livingston, and says that he is in the race to the end.
Following is the letter in which Mr. Hendrix states his position.

Mr. Hendrix will make the race as an independent candidate.

"Like other citizens of our country, I have an ambition to go to congress, not that I would be able to do better there than many others, but believing that entering the views that I do could help to so adjust our business relations as to improve the conditions now existing.

"I believe that with our tariff laws changed so as to make our import duties collectable on specific articles in line of the ad valorem system as now practiced, a sufficient revenue could be collected without materially increasing duties to improve the government economically administered.
I believe in taxing luxuries in lieu of necessities. Our present law is defective here.

"Sugar now pays an ad valorem tax of 40 per cent while diamonds only pay 20 per cent. Who believes this right? Under the former tariff law granite was taxed 20 per cent, but now it is taxed 40 per cent. The result was that our Dakota and Rockdale country quarries supplying the market for granite were ruined. The result is not a block of our granite can be laid on the market in our country.

"Likewise with lumber. Our Georgia lumbermen have been largely driven out of the northwestern by Canadian lumber. Do you approve of that? So many of our citizens believe in home rule and taking care of our home markets, giving the labor to our home people independent without regard to English or other countries.

"With the tariff system properly adjusted the balance of trade would be in our favor and in place of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 of gold being exported annually, gold would be imported. But the balance of trade of gold over exports was $25,000,000.
Since 1892 nearly $20,000,000 in gold has gone out of the country. If the balance of trade was in our favor this exporting of gold would not be necessary.

"On the financial question I favor a sound currency. No dollar that is not as good as any other dollar. But believe that with our revenue and tariff laws properly adjusted as to have revenue sufficient to support the government and the balance of trade in our favor so gold will be coming out of the country. But believe that then we might take care of the silver from the mines of our country. The balance of gold in the United States is about $60,000,000.
Then with $30,000,000 imported as gold during the past year, we would have prevented the taking care of $30,000,000 of gold. But the balance of trade of gold over imports was $25,000,000.

"There was a balance of $25,000,000 against

VERY LITTLE
"HARMONY" THEREThe Eagle and Phoenix Will Owners Are at Outs Again.

COLLIER CROWD DETERMINED

To Have the Stockholders' Meeting on July 22d.

BIGBY WILL NOT CALL IT FOR THAT DATE

Thereby Hangs a Tale-Indications Are That Judge Bigby Will Be Forced To Give In.

There has been much talk of "harmony" between the two factions of the Eagle and Phoenix mills since President Bigby was discharged from the receivership of the property by Judge Nye. It was generally expected that the two factions would be reconciled, and that the property would be sold as a unit. However, it does not appear to materialize when questions of any importance come up for settlement.

The two factions are now quibbling over the selection of a date for the stockholders' meeting. Judge Bigby was requested to call a meeting to be held in Columbus on July 22d. It was announced that he had consented to do so, and was published. This was soon denied by Judge Bigby, who wrote a letter declaring that he did not feel prepared to call a meeting on July 22d, inasmuch as the majority that is being prepared by the two receivers of the property would hardly be ready by that time. He argued that if the inventory was not ready, the meeting would be almost entirely useless. This objection of Judge Bigby was not made public until yesterday morning, when the Constitution published his letter in full, in which he declined to call the meeting as requested by the stockholders. He was sent to him from the meeting held last Friday in Mr. Charles A. Collier's office in the City City bank.

Chief Connolly Leaves.
Chief Connolly, of the local police force, left yesterday morning for his home, where he will remain two weeks. The chief of police is expected to return on or about the 22d inst.

Carmichael Still Better.

Edwin Carmichael, the negro who was severely scalded by John Hulse last Friday, is now in a better condition. He is expected to be discharged from the hospital on or about the 22d inst.

Criminal Court in Session.

The city criminal court was in session yesterday afternoon, having been idle for several days. The court was presided over by Judge Marshall J. Clarke.

They Want a Receiver.

An application was made yesterday before Judge Lumpkin in regard to the appointment of a receiver for the Eagle and Phoenix mills. The application was made by the stockholders of the Eagle mill.

Will Go to Chicago.

Miss Elizabeth Brown, teacher of English in the public schools, is expected to leave for Chicago on or about the 22d inst. She will take a summer course at the Chicago university.

Alderman Hirsch in Pro Tem.

Hon. Joseph Hirsch, mayor pro tem, left yesterday for Tallahassee, where he goes on a business trip. He will return on or about the 22d inst.

Will Begin Work at Once.

United States District Attorney James, secretary of the city of Atlanta, appeared before the telephone company yesterday and ordered the electrical board to put in the necessary conduits for their underground wires. The work will be commenced tomorrow.

Busy Day for Clerk Phillips.

Yesterday was a busy day for Clerk Phillips and his assistants. They were busy with the filing of papers and the issuing of subpoenas. The day was also busy with the receipt of money for the city treasury.

Wants Him To Preside.

There is no one in the city who is keeping a closer watch on the national political situation than Mr. Collier. He is expected to be elected to the office of mayor in the next election.

Bigby Fixes August 5th.

Judge Bigby has called a meeting for August 5th. This will be the date on which the stockholders of the Eagle and Phoenix mills will meet to elect a receiver for the property.

IS AN ELEPHANT.

The ownership of the building erected by the government for the Cotton States and International exposition is a matter of doubt. It is expected that the building will be sold to the city of Atlanta.

"Don't Want It," Says the Mayor.

No Official Communication Received Telling of the Transfer.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

MINOR ITEMS GATHERED FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

What is Going on in the Political, Social, Legal and Criminal World.

Ed Griffin, a young negro boy, was tried in Judge Landrum's court yesterday on the charge of assault with intent to murder and bound over to stand an attack on the ground. The young man was charged with several weeks ago, cutting his arm severely with a knife. Griffin was sent to jail in default of bond.

They Pray with Hanye.

The Christian young men of the city are taking much interest in Arthur Hanye, who is sentenced to be hanged next month. Prayers are being held at the jail all night long for the prisoner, and most every day with the prisoner, and he is beginning to be much interested in his soul's salvation. He does not believe that he will be hanged.

Fell Into a Ditch.
A mule attached to a drag fell into a deep hole at Loyd and Hunter streets yesterday afternoon. The hole was caused by sewer excavations, and the loose dirt which washed away underneath the surface. The mule was pitched into the hole, only his head remaining above the ground. The mule was finally extricated, uninjured, by means of ropes, after much hard work.

Mr. Mathews Better.
E. L. Mathews, the genial secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, has about recovered from his injuries received last night when he was struck by a horse. He is now in a better condition, and is expected to be discharged from the hospital on or about the 22d inst.

SOCIETY NEWS AND GOSSIP.

An Interesting Letter From a Young Ladies' College.

Race Between the Sexes for Education.
Health Impaired by Incessant Study.

The race between the sexes for education is to-day very close.

Ambitious girls work incessantly over their studies, and are often brought to a halt.

Through having sacrificed the physical to the mental.

Then begin those ailments that must be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering.

Headache, dizziness, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity of menses, nervousness and blues, with lack of confidence; these are positive signs that women's arch enemy is at hand.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Pinkham in May, one month after the young lady had first written, giving symptoms, and asking advice. She was ill and in great distress of mind, feeling as though she would not hold out till graduation, and the doctor had advised her to go home.

College, Mass.

You dear Woman—
I should have written to you before, but you said wait a month. Weighing taught that the days of miracles are past. Pray what is my case? I have taken the Vegetable Compound faithfully, and obeyed you implicitly and am free from all my ills. I was a very sick girl. Am keeping well up in my class, and hope to do you and myself credit at graduation. My gratitude cannot find expression in words. Yours sincerely friend, MARY

P. S. Some of the girls are now using the Compound. It benefits them all.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only safe, sure and effectual remedy in such cases, as it removes the cause, purifies and invigorates the system, and gives energy and vitality.

This morning at 10:15 o'clock at St. Luke's church, Mr. George H. Holladay, on Forrest avenue. The following young gentlemen are on the committee of arrangements: Messrs. Albert Collier, Jim Meador, Robert Jenkins, Boykin Robinson, Claude Buchanan, Tom Scrutches, Harmon Cox, Tom Swift, John Rilev, Marshall Smith, and others.

Miss Annie Ewing and Mattie Sprowl, of Rome, are the guests of Miss Idolene Edwards.

AN IDEA TO MEN WHO DO AN OFFICE BUSINESS.

Has it ever occurred to you that the man who receives your letters forms an idea of the quality of the stationery which you use? Your stationery is certainly representative of your taste, and there is no question whatever that it does have an effect upon those who receive your letters.

The most fashionable and elegant stationery now used is done from steel engravings and embossed. J. P. Stevens & Bro. do this work at prices but little more than ordinary type printed work, while the paper used is of much higher quality.

Call on J. P. Stevens & Bro., 47 Whitehall street, and ask to see their samples and get their prices before placing your order for office stationery.

WILL HANYE HANG?

Friends of the Doomed Man Will Appeal to the Governor.

THEY ASK FOR CLEMENCY

Petition for Commutation of the Sentence Has Been Numerously Signed.

The friends of Arthur Hanye will make an appeal in a few days to Governor Atkinson for a commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

A petition has already been prepared by Mr. James W. Austin, the attorney for the defense, and several hundred names have been signed. In addition to these names eleven jurors who convicted the young man have signed their names, and it is said the twelfth juror, who has been hesitating over the matter, will probably sign the paper asking for life.

The case of Hanye is one of an unusual nature, and his attorneys will endeavor to show that the young man is not guilty of murder. Through all the various court trials Hanye has denied his guilt, and the theory by which he explains the death of his friend has been accepted by many as the true statement of the case.

Hanye and Spinks had been life-long friends. They had been schoolmates and through all the long years of childhood and youth they had been as brothers. Several years ago when Spinks became involved in trouble, Hanye was the first to go to his rescue, and he remained true and loyal to his friend through imprisonment and trial. They were comrades in trouble, and in after years the friendship of youth had not diminished.

The circumstances of the murder of the Decatur street saloon also show that there was no malice aforethought in the heart of Hanye when he entered the bar and accosted his friend in the same old friendly manner in which they had been accustomed to address each other.

Hanye says he walked up to Spinks and, slapping him on the shoulder, called him by a name he had called him many times before. Hanye repeated, but is said to have apologized.

The apology directly brought on the tragedy, and Spinks repeated the oath and struck the boy a stinging blow across the face. Spinks was a much larger and stronger man than his friend, and Hanye drew his knife, he says, for protection.

The men clinched and both fell. Hanye was the first to extricate the floor, and in his hand he held the open knife.

"I did not strike the blow. Had I done so, I would have acted sensibly. I opened the knife partly as a bluff and partly in fun, for I even then did not know Spinks intended to hurt me. He had jested with me before, and we had had many friendly bouts. As we fell, his head struck the knife point. That is the truth. I did not kill him, and as I stand almost in the shadow of the scaffold, I repeat, if they were my last words, that I did not strike the blow that killed Spinks."

But One Chance of Life.

Hanye has but one chance of life, and that is in the exercise of executive clemency.

In the hands of Governor Atkinson alone rests the fate of the young man, and if the governor interferes, it means life to the doomed man; if he refuses, it is death upon the scaffold.

Every possible pressure will be brought to bear upon the governor in behalf of the prisoner. Citizens who have never seen Hanye have made requests for executive clemency, and the petition to be presented to the governor already bears the signatures of several well-known Atlanta ministers.

"There is but one hope for Hanye," said Mr. Austin yesterday. "The supreme court has refused him a new trial; the last resource in law has been tried, and I believe if the case is placed before the governor in proper light, there is yet hope for the unfortunate boy."

The petition will be presented Governor Atkinson in a few days, probably by the latter part of the week.

In the Shadow of Death.

The doomed man is almost in the shadow of death.

The scaffold is a suggestive affair of timber, painted a deep crimson, and has been used once before as a stepping stone from life to death.

Sheriff Barnes will give instructions to his men to have the scaffold in readiness if the governor refuses to pardon Hanye. The day of execution has been set for August 7th, and the trap will fall between the hours of 11 and 2 o'clock. The execution will be conducted in private, and the friends of Hanye, a few friends and a minister will be admitted to the jail yard.

TO ARCH THE STREET.

COUNCIL GRANTS APPLICATION FOR COMMERCIAL BUILDING.

Will Be a Tall Structure—Plans for the Edifice Accepted Yesterday Before the City Council.

The next great building to go up in Atlanta will be at the junction of Broad and Peachtree, in the little triangular block formed by these two streets and Poplar street.

This building will be the highest in Atlanta, the plans calling for twelve stories. It is to be commenced at once and pushed as rapidly as possible to completion.

The fact that the sidewalks are to be arched over has caused some opposition, but that matter has been settled satisfactorily and Atlanta will soon possess one more magnificent structure.

At their session yesterday evening, the council granted permission to the Mutual Building Company to erect their proposed building. This company is organized under the law of Georgia. The president is Mr. J. F. Shedd, of this city; vice president, Mr. Coleman W. Carter, of New York city, and Mr. Roby Robinson is secretary and treasurer, with Captain A. H. Banning, manager. These gentlemen, with ex-Governor Rufus B. Bullock and Mr. J. H. Gilbert, who is counsel, constitute the general board of directors.

The structure proposed is a first-class, modern, fireproof, steel frame office building, which is to be brought up to date and contain every possible improvement, disclosed by the present state of the building art. It is to be twelve stories high, and will contain about two hundred rooms, three elevators run by electricity, and will be equipped with the most improved system of heat and electric light throughout. The special feature of this building and that which has attracted a great deal of favorable and interesting comment on the part of our progressive citizens is that, owing to the peculiar shape and location of the lot, it being bounded by streets on all sides, it is proposed upon the two wide streets of Broad and Peachtree, that the face of the building should extend to the curb line about the second story, thus forming an arcade along the sidewalk which will run underneath the building for its entire length. This arcade being about twenty-five feet in height, supported upon steel columns, will necessarily be light and airy, and at the same time will afford to passers-by ample protection from the sun and water at all hours of the day, and that place at any rate will render the unsightly awnings so common upon the streets impossible. The building is to be of most artistic design, and its finish will be such that, located as it is upon one of the most conspicuous sites in the city, it will be a pleasure to the eye.

It is believed by those in position to judge that the effect of the erection of this building will be to enhance the value of all neighboring property, and will set a standard which sooner or later will be followed by other buildings in the vicinity. Already, indicated by the discussion of the building, the city is in preparation to erect a fine building on the corner of Broad and Walton streets, on the block now occupied by the Scarrett house, and other improvements are already being talked of.

In Paris this form of construction is universal. The Rue de Rivoli is a well known instance, and the same is also abundant in this form of construction.

WRITES TO WASHINGTON.

CITY ATTORNEY ANDERSON INQUIRES ABOUT THE CENSUS.

Probable That the Census Will Be Taken at an Early Date—How It Will Work.

The prospects for taking the new city census in order to have Atlanta's postoffice rank as a first-class one are very bright.

City Attorney Anderson has written the postmaster-general asking if a census taken under our existing laws will be accepted by the postoffice authorities as official. On the answer received will depend very largely whether or not the census will be taken. It seems that there is no state law in Georgia providing for the taking of a census, and that in general, but a provision in Atlanta's charter gives her the power to do so.

Whether or not the government will accept a census taken under this law is the question, but it is believed that it will be all right.

The city of Dayton, O., had a census taken that advanced their work of getting the names for the census.

Grand Rapids, Mich., also had a census taken that advanced them to a first-class postoffice and Judge Anderson has written them for information, but has not received an answer yet.

The city attorney will not make his report to the council until he has received a reply to his letter to the postmaster-general. It is almost positive though that the new census will be taken and that as soon as it is known that the government will accept it.
